EDITORIAL

Welcome to THE NEW PAPER (UCSONGAYMUSEUNow, Crocthis end, we need help and input

An era in the publishing field of Arizona has ended for the Gay community, and a new era has begun.

With this first issue of THE NEW PAPER, you may notice some familiar things, but you will also notice some new and exciting changes.

News items by, for and about happenings in our great state of Arizona will be our major concern. Phoenix and Tucson will be represented by reporters and columnists who will keep you informed concerning the politics in our state, county and city governments. Each week happenings concerning our local Gay organizations, businesses and groups will be reported. Astrology, humor, commentary, photography, cartooning and much, much more will be offered through the pages of THE NEW PAPER each week. Up-to-date information on what to do, who to see, and why will be suggested each week as a guide to our readers on how to live the easy Arizona life and enjoy it more.

News on the national level that might have an impact on our western lifestyle will also be covered. You may think that a judge's decision in Madison, Wisconsin does not have any bearing on us out here on the desert - but it does. If it is a favorable decision, it could mean getting a similar decision here. If it is an unfavorable decision, it means that we have to prepare to take steps to correct the fault, whatever it may be, and effect a favorable decision here. Police hiring practices in Houston, certainly should have an effect on the police hiring practices in Phoenix. A free medical clinic oriented to the Gay community of Tucson should have an effect on forming a Gay medical clinic in another county anywhere in the country. An effective Gay Community Center in Phoenix, encourages other cities throughout the country to organize and operate a similar operation.

It is pleasant and fun to run a newspaper that could be the bearer of only good news. Unfortunately, there is an awful lot the state of the s

of bad news that has to be reported to keep you, our readers, informed and be wary of. THE NEW PAPER will do that also.

from you. To keep our readers informed, we need and encourage your assistance. News of clubs, organizations, groups, churches and businesses is vital to our readers. Views, letters, notices, opinions, columnists and other talent is needed to keep the pages of THE NEW PAPER interesting and informative.

We encourage you to join us in continuing this venture with your talents and input. As time goes by, we hope that our list of contributing staff people will grow and grow as THE NEW PAPER grows in our Arizona communities.

THE NEW PAPER's co-publishers, Terry
Harrison and Tony Valdez, are Phoenix residents and are available with a 24-hour answering service when no one is available in the Phoenix office (244-1595). Tucson readers can contact either Editor Bob Ellis or Gary Clark in Tucson (622-7176) for news, information or advertising.

Join us, won't you? We will need you as, we hope, you will need us. See you next week.

EFolk Wins Songwritings Honors

PHOENIX - Bill Folk, singer/song writer from Phoneix, won first place in the National Songwriting Contest held in conjunction with the Third Annual Gay American Arts Festival. The Festival, held last September in Chicago, was sponsored by the Gay-Lesbian Arts Alliance of Chicago. Two previous Festivals had been held in New York City.

Folk's winning wong, "We Are Here" was written for the First Lesbian and Gay Rights March in Phoenix, June 198] in honor of that historic event. The song had been recorded in Nashville last spring and was due for release on Bright Moon Records. The release date was held up to allow for entry in the contest and comply with rules disallowing entrants to submit works comercially released. After the contest, the records was released and has been selling across the country and is available in Gay and Feminist bookstores in major cities.

The first place honor included a monetary prize and recognition in the Festival program where the lyrics to "We Are Here" were published. "I believe 'We Are Here' is an important message for the 80's", states Folk, "We must sing out our sense of pride in who we are. It's the only way the world will know that we are indeed here and we're definitely not going away."

Gay Rights Bill Rejected in N.Y. Fight, But the Gallssue is Still Alive

NEW YORK, NY - A top city official last week promised to resurrect a Gay rights bill defeated after a venomous 15 hour public hearing marked by boos, jeers, catcalls and 24 arrests.

City Council President Carol Bellamy said she planned to move to have the bill discharged from the General Welfare Committee next month for a vote by the 45-member council. The discharge motion would require a majority vote of the council.

"I don't think the bill is dead. We do not at this point have the votes to pass it, but we're not far short," she said.

The committee voted 6-3 to kill the bill, the seventh time the measure has been defeated since it was first introduced in 1971.

Twenty-four Gay activists who refused to leave the council chambers following the vote were arrested on trespassing charges. Police carried 17 of them from City Hall on stretchers.

A total of 202 people, each allotted three minutes to speak, spoke for or against the bill at a hearing punctuated by jeers, boos, catcalls, chanting and overheated rhetoric from both sides.

The most stunning moment came when an opponent of the bill, Rabbi William Handler, charged the city's three top elected officials were homosexuals.

Mayor Edward I. Koch, Bellamy and Comptroller Harrison Goldin, all strong supporters of the bill, denied the Koch later called Handler's attack "sad, absolutely sad."

"I think what he did was a great disservice to the clergy," the mayor said. He also said he was "very surprised" only two committee members chose to challenge the rabbi's remarks.

"In JO years of elective office I've been yelled at so often it's just another scream," Bellamy said of the charge.

About 50 cities and one state, Wisconsin, have passed homosexual rights legislation. Tucson is one of those cities. (UPI)

Parents Want Aid From Gay Groups CS Buckhardt

HOUSTON. TX (GCN) - Richard and Amy Ashworth, two long-time members of the original Parents and Friends of Gays (PFOG) chapter in New York City, are delivering a message that may surprise many Gays and Lesbians: it is up to the children to bring their parents to PFOG, not other parents.

"It takes the children to bring the parents to the Parents and Friends of Gays." said Richard. "There is no way for us to bring in the parents without the Gay and Lesbian community." In other words, he said, PFOG cannot be an effective organization without the aid of the nation's Gay and Lesbian organizations. Recruiting is the biggest problem that PFOG has, he said, and there is no way to reach the parents without the help of the children.

The Ashworths were in Houston recently to attend the Texas Gay Conference Eight and presented what turned out to be one of the more popular workshops to be presented. Richard is a successful attorney and has spoken in support of his two Gay sons on several occasions, including at the National March on Washington for Lesbian and Gay Rights in 1979, and more recently on William F. Buckley's "Firing" Line." Amy has worked full time in support of the Gay movement for the last few years. Both have appeared on the "Donahue" program. The middle-aged couple in no way fits the stereotype of what many Americans would expect for social activists. Both are conservative in appearance and Richard always appears in public in a suit. In fact, the Ashworths want to dispel the fear that many parents have about becoming involved with PFOG.

"Parents are not expected to be activists and march," said Richard. "Our central purpose is to help parents accept their children and not to go farther." Contrary to the propaganda put out by such groups as the Moral Majority, he said that PFOG is committed to "reuniting the Amy agrees, but feels that the Moral Majority is the least of our worries. "Don't be afraid of the Morai Majority," she said. "They are more like the amoral minority. Be more concerned with the Family Protection Act. The FPA would do away with most sex discrimination aspects of the federal education code, establish "traditional" sex roles as the only legitimate curricula and threaten the withdrawal of over four billion dollars in federal education funds if schools did not adhere to these strict guidelines. Amy urges parents and their children alike to write Congress and voice their opposition to it.

Parents of Gays and Lesbians can be significant and powerful allies to their children, said Richard, because parents aren't subject to the same attacks that their Gay and Lesbian children are. "That makes a good bridge between

NGTF Crisisline Statistics

NEW YORK, NY - In the first three months of operation since opening on October 6, 1982, the National Gay Task Force Crisisline received 791 calls from 43 states. Although there were only three calls in October, by the end of November 258 calls had been received, and by mid-December that figure had more than doubled.

By far the largest number of calls concerned the spread of Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS). AIDS callers requested and received basic information on the symptoms, possible causes, and recommended preventive measures. Those wanting medical attention were referred to AIDS hotlines/services or given general advice on how to find informed health care providers.

Crisisline staffers took reports from victims of anti-Gay violence and, whenever possible, referred them to support services in their communities. In order to better accommodate callers from the West and mid-West, Crisisline hours have been changed to 3:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. Eastern Standard Time. Anyone who wishes to report anti-Gay violence or to get information concerning AIDS and referrals should call 800-22]-7044 (toll free).

were received, involving thirty three victims. The incidents include verbal harassment, male rape, attempted murder and police harassment and brutality. Hundreds of such reports are needed before NGTF's Violence Project will have enough data to produce any meaningful analysis of the scope and nature of anti-Gay violence nationally. According to Jay Watkins, Director of the New York City Gay/Lesbian Anti-Violence Project, "Any group which documents violence and assists victims must do a great deal of outreach into the Gay community before victims will identify themselves. Once victims know that the community is behind them and will provide support, more and more will step forward and be counted."

All those who have been victims of phusical, sexual or verbal assault, vandalism, robbery, arson, police entrapment/harassment/brutality because their are Lesbian/Gay are urged to call the NGTF Crisisline. Those who have witnessed any such incidents are urged to make a report as well. All reports are confidential and will enable NGTF to document, publicize and combat anti-Gay violence nation-wide.

NGTF is continuing to expand and update its Crisisline Referral Directory to include Gay support services across the United States. At the present time there are listed thirty AIDS hotlines and health projects, and more than 500 general helplines, switchboards, anti-violence projects, and other agencies to aid victims of anti-Gay violence. Kevin Berrill, NGTF Crisisline Coordinator said, "We thank all those who sent information on support services in their communities, and urge everyone to continue to help us keep up-to-date on local efforts to deal with AIDS and anti-Gay violence by writing to us at 80 Fifth Avenue, New York, NY 10011."

groups such as the Moral Majority and the Gay world," said Richard. Both cited experiences where people that each knew to be anti-Gay and extremely conservative expressed support for what the parent's group was doing to support their children.

Participants in the workshop that was led by the Ashworth's expressed a desire to see that the Ashworth message be spread to the Gay and Lesbian community and although the Ashworth's traveled to Houston at their own expense to do the workshop, Richard stressed that the primary responsibility for spreading the word lies with the homophile community. "When you have (told your parents), you have the best weapon possible," said Richard. "It's damn hard for people to say no to a parent. But telling parents can be a traumatic experience for some. The Ashworths recommend thorough preparation for it and suggest that there are some very practical reasons for making homosexuality known to parents.

Once you are "out" to your parents, the Ashworths say that: (1) There is no longer any reason to lie about yourself or your "roommate". (2) No more worrying about being "found out" by someone who might tell parents. (3) Most important, relief from the stress of leading a double life. Many parents, they said, take the news very well; but others can be very cruel or be hurt badly by the news.
